

HISTORIC MADISON 2018 ANNUAL MEETING

Tuesday, November 27, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

UW Union South, 1308 W Dayton St. 2nd floor

MADISON IN THE SIXTIES

The razing of (1) Christ Presbyterian Church on August 12 initiates a downtown development fight that will take eighteen months to play out, while the October 29 groundbreaking for a new library sets a final due date for (2) the 1906 Carnegie Library. Also pictured: (3) Vocational School, (4) First Church of Christ Scientist, (5) Masonic Temple, (6) Central High School, (7) First Methodist Church, (8) Manchester's pigeon-hole parking, (9) Manchester's department store, (10) Woolworth's, (11) Chandler's shoes, (12) Baron's department store, (13) Baron's shoes, (14) the Hub men's clothier, (15) Wisconsin Life Insurance building, (16) Rendall's women's clothier, (17) Commercial State Bank, (18) Anchor Savings and Loan, (19) YWCA. WHEIMAGE ID 137506, PHOTO BY JOHN NEWHOUSE

Madison historian Stuart Levitan's new book chronicles the birth of modern Madison with well-researched narrative of the dramatic social and physical changes in the city. He is an award-winning print and broadcast journalist.

Come listen, learn and relive.

